Evaluating and Weeding Collections in Small and Medium-Sized Public Libraries Joseph P. Segal

Based on The CREW Manual, written for the Texas State Library in 1976, this is an excellent guide for reviewing a library collection and determining which materials should be kept and which should be withdrawn. A ten-step review method is introduced along with the Crew Guidelines by Dewey Class which offers detailed suggestions for what to keep or withdraw within major Dewey Decimal Classification areas. The book is aimed at public and branch libraries using the Dewey system but the logic of it can be applied in other situations.
